| Overall he was an extremely good addition to the team. He showed a lot of determination and impressed me on how he deals and leads workers. One thing that is maybe negative about him that I would like to comment about is that he was a bit egotistic which is not very bad but if you are working under a lot of people you have to let go of your own ego sometimes. But other than that, he showed very good communication and design skills which impressed me a lot for someone his age. His design are extremely unique but sometimes he struggles to design something that looks very normal because he's always searching for the best design possible and how to improve it and sometimes a designer has to be able to design ordinary thing that looks ordinary. |
